

HATCH

Healing and Transforming Children's Health

A collaboration between Our Children Our Families (OCOF) Council and The California Children's Trust

Bringing San Franciscans and their child-serving systems together to respond to the youth mental health crisis by centering equity and justice, transforming service design and delivery, and improving policy and financing.

The California Children's Trust (CCT) is a broad-based initiative to reimagine California's Behavioral Health System to achieve equity and healing for children and families. Our Children, Our Families Council San Francisco (OCOF) has partnered with the CCT to engage San Francisco stakeholders in a two-year process of uniting families, community-based organizations, and public systems around an ambitious vision for the transformation of local supports for children's social, emotional, developmental, and mental health and wellbeing.

The goals of the partnership are to:

- ✓ Strengthen Collaboration: Strengthen cross-system collaboration and enhance mutual accountability to improve outcomes for children, youth and families.
- ✓ Expand and Optimize the Children's System of Care: Conceptualize and plan how to best utilize existing funding to improve and expand a coordinated system of care for all San Francisco children, youth and families in the context of their family, community and culture, while simultaneously identifying new public funding to support expansion of the behavioral health system.

Our Children
Our Families
Council San Francisco

California
Children's Trust

JANUARY 2020

The collaborative planning process will consist of the following three phases:

OCOF has contracted with CCT to co-lead a 20-month process, beginning in January 2020. OCOF will serve as primary convener of collaboration with local leadership, and will support CCT in identifying and engaging with local stakeholders.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT:

Dr. Pegah Faed, Executive Director

Our Children, Our Families Council San Francisco
pegah.faed@sfgov.org • (415) 554-8425